HOW TO RECOGNISE A MONSTER

Cómo reconocer a un monstruo

20 x 20 cm | 24 pages | hardback | children

RIGHTS SOLD TO: CHINA, FRANCE,
BRAZIL & USA (BRAILLE)

Whenever we meet something that looks like a monster, it's better to make sure it's indeed a monster. If it has so many legs to look like a forest, if it has yellow eyes under its eyebrows, if its nose is as huge as an aubergine; and above all, if it has a pitch dark mouth full of teeth, then there is no doubt: it's a monster!

AT SCHOOL / EN LA ESCUELA

21,80 x 30 cm | 48 pages | hardback | children

WORLD RIGHTS AVAILABLE

This school is very unique. Students learn many different subjects, some difficult, incomprehensible, and seemingly useless, until they discover the one destined for them—the nameless one, the one that cannot be taught and can only be discovered.

FROM THE BRANCH TO THE FOREST/
DE LA RAMA AL BOSQUE

17 x 21 cm | 24 pages | hardback | children

WORLD RIGHTS AVAILABLE

This picture book mixes poetry with simple Mathematics, like additions and subtractions, but with words. It triggers a reflection on how the language works. How many branches are needed to be considered a tree? And how many trees are needed to become a forest? Is it true that when you gather ten steps you already make a walk? And that two hands make a greeting, but four a ring of people? Or that with a grain of sand you can make a necklace? What's the difference between the porcupine and the cactus?

THE KING WHO LAUGHED AND DIDN'T LAUGH
/ EL REY QUE REÍA Y NO REÍA

22 x 22 cm | 32 pages | hardback | children
WORLD RIGHTS AVAILABLE

Francesc Bononad reinterprets the classic tales of kings and princesses with a humorous story that tells us about a king who was capable of laughing with all the vowels, except the "U". Like a good old tale, experts from all over the kingdom (jesters, comedians, jokers) are summoned to make the king laugh with the U with all kinds of eschatological resources.

DEAR AUNT AGATHA / Querida tía Agatha

22 x 30 cm | 48 pages | hardback | Young & Adult

RIGHTS SOLD TO: ITALY & DENMARK

Three nieces, Louise, Alice and Candice are in charge of aunt Agatha's house. In their letter they explain how everything is alright, pretty conventionally. But looking at the illustrations, the reader will notice that these three girls are far from conventional. Because Alice sneezes are plenty of flowers, because Candice loves floating when reading, and because the house is inhabited by harpies in the greenhouse, and whales in the garden pond.
